Symptoms of Autism

Here are some signs to look for in someone of any age:

- Speech delay
- Repetitive language or behaviors (repeating words or phrases, lining things up)
- Little or no eye contact
- Difficulty making and keeping friends
- Lack of spontaneous or make-believe play
- Dislikes change; insists on sameness

Early signs of autism

As part of a well-baby/well-child visit, your child's doctor should do a "developmental screening," asking specific questions about your baby's progress. Here are some behaviors that may show that further evaluation is recommended:

- Does not respond to his/her name
- Does not babble or coo by 12 months
- Does not point or wave by 12 months
- Does not say single words by 16 months
- Does not say two-word phrases on his or her own by 24 months
- Has any loss of language or social skill (stops talking or waving)
